Article description

With the Einhell AQUINNA 36/30 cordless garden pump you can make use of rainwater and water from wells and cisterns at any time in the garden and home grounds, so you save money and help protect the environment too. Because the AQUINNA garden pump is powered by two 18 V Power X-Change rechargeable batteries. Designed as a member of the high-performance Power X-Change family, all the rechargeable batteries in the system series can be used flexibly and without restriction in the workshop and garden tool products from the system series. For the correct setting there is an ECO switch with two settings: Either economy mode with reduced delivery pressure or full power. With a delivery head up to 26 meters, a suction height up to 8 meters and a maximum delivery rate of 3,000 liters per hour, the AQUINNA cordless garden pump also scores top marks for performance. The connection at the intake side is 42 mm (1 1/4" male thread) and at the delivery side 33.3 mm (R1 female thread). There is a water filler screw and, for protection against frost, a water drain screw. So the garden pump can be stowed away in the cold season without any worries. The overload protection protects the motor from overheating damage. Thanks to the practical carry-handle, the cordless garden pump can be quickly carried to wherever it is needed. This product comes without a battery or charger. These are available separately, for example as a practical starter set from Einhell.
